This photo is a picture of our Executive Chairman, Mr. Bill Boyd, with his third grade class at Lincoln Elementary School in Honolulu taken in the spring of 1940.

Today, the building has been converted into a museum where the more recent photo was taken in November 2017. The steps in both photos are the same location.

None of the boys in the first row, including Mr. Boyd, wore shoes. Few male students wore shoes at his school in those days. Right after this picture was taken, the Boyds relocated to Newport Beach, California, where he attended fourth grade – and once again, didn't wear shoes!

According to Bill, "I didn't wear shoes until I was in fifth grade in Las Vegas, and I hated it at first. Your feet get used to that freedom!"
